Is He not.....?

The gospel today brings us the obvious question: How could Jesus' family and friends reject him? They watched him grow up. They had to be aware of his loving nature and the fact that he worked hard, both as a student of the Torah (law) and as Joseph's apprentice (carpenter). Before leaving home he was acknowledged as a rabbi, a teacher, and he had disciples whom he taught. We can assume they heard about his success in ministry. Nazareth was only a short distance away from Capernaum which was his base of operations.

News travelled by word of mouth from one town to another and everyone was eager to hear and share what they heard. We have listened over the last four Sundays to Mark's gospel about the success of Jesus' ministry: how the crowds listened to his teachings, how they witnessed the healing of the sick and the possessed, and how astounded they were when Jesus brought Jairus' daughter back to life.

You may recall that in the synagogue at Capernaum the people were "amazed" and "accepted" his new way of teaching. But in the synagogue we visited today in Nazareth they were "offended," and they rejected him, crying out "Where did this man get all this? What is this wisdom that has been given to him? What deeds of power are being done by his hands! Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary and brother of James and Joses and Judas and Simon, and are not his sisters here with us?" We have heard of this theory; "Familiarity breeds contempt." The same is what Jesus meant when he said: "A prophet is not without honour, except in his own hometown, and among his own kin, and in his own house." This passage illustrates Jesus' humanity in a beautiful manner. Like us, he felt the pain of rejection, not only with his homecoming but increasingly through the rest of his ministry and ultimately on the cross. Through Jesus' humanity we know that "God feels our pain." And so this passage relates to our lives in several ways. When we reject others—we reject Jesus. It doesn't matter what our rejection is based on. When we reject others we do not love them as we were commanded to and we limit God's hand in their lives and in ours. When we reject those closest to us—we reject Jesus. Cont..

Gospel Reading Mark 6 1-6

We know through the Gospels that Jesus healed many people. All the people Jesus healed had faith and believed in what Jesus was teaching, but in Jesus own home town, Nazareth, the people did not listen to him. How do you feel when people don't listen to you?

Jesus did not give up because he was rejected but moved on to another town and taught there. What is the message for us in this story?

You Are My Child –Now we are children of God - John 3:2

God tells us to relax in God's presence, and then he can work in your heart and mind. Let go of cares and worries so that you can receive Gods Peace. Be still and know that I am God.

Don't worry about what others think. Don't worry what's "cool" or "in". And don't be like the Pharisees in the Bible. They got so wrapped up in their own rules that they lost sight of Me.

Keep your eyes on Me (God), and remember how much I love you. This helps you to love me and also love others with My Love.

Jesus Calling Sarah Young adapted by Tama Fortner.

Prayer:

Dear God,
It is easier to believe you are near when the world is quiet.
Help us to know you are near when it grows noisy.
Amen.

RESPONSORIAL PSALM: Our eyes are fixed on the Lord, pleading for his mercy.

It's so easy to belittle family members, and those close to us, to dismiss them and to show disappointment in them because they are not the people we wanted them to be. Don't we also sometimes become hardest on those to whom we are most familiar? We need to remember the fact that when we deny our loved ones we limit their ability to love and support us. And we limit God's work through them and through us.

Rain water tank project at Holy Trinity Church

You would have noticed that the tank has been installed in time for the Winter rains, but we still owe money for the electrical works and plumbing during May, June. We collected $39.80 in cans and bottles etc., and have received a donation of $45.00 from a very generous Development Fund winner.

We would like to thank all parishioners who have donated bottles, cans, jars, etc. Please keep them coming and many thanks also to all those who have donated cash. This is a big help.

God bless you all.
Dudley Dolman

The Role of Music in Sunday Mass

Part 4

Regarding music in the Communion Rite, the General Instruction makes a request that is yet to be widely adopted. It states:

"While the priest is receiving the Sacrament, the Communion chant is begun, its purpose being to express the spiritual union of the communicants by means of the unity of their voices, to show gladness of heart, and to bring out more clearly the 'communitarian' character of the procession to receive the Eucharist. The singing is prolonged for as long as the Sacrament is being administered to the faithful...#86

Starting the communion song as early as the priest's communion means that the musicians and choir members can only receive communion after the music has finished. Two extraordinary ministers could therefore be rostered each Sunday to take the Body and Blood of Christ to the musicians after everyone else has received Holy Communion. Then a time for quiet reflection is the first option given once the assembly is still.
